Reviews

Without doubt, this is actually the best job by any publisher. It is written in basic phrases instead of difficult to understand. You will like the way the author publishes this publication.

Not illustrated. 1765 Excerpt: .till the length each way be at least equal to the Radius of the Protractor. Then I place the center of the Protractor on C, and because the degrees of the angle at C are less than 180, I lay the beginning of the degrees of the Protractor towards B, the last station, and the diameter on BC. Then close to the edge of the Protractor, with my Protracting Pin, I make a mark against 1430 45 ; the quantity of the angle at C, and to it draw an obscure right line from C, representing the line from C to D. Then turn the Protractor about, its center still coinciding with C, because the bearing is more than 180, the beginning of the degrees towards S, and the diameter parallel to the meridians; and then if you have work-ed truly, the line CD before drawn, will meet with the limb of the Protractor against 340 30 , the bearing of the line CD. But if not, the line CD is not in its true position, and must be corrected before you proceed. From the laying down these two angles and bearings, it appears how errors often happening in practice, may be prevented. The general rules I observe herein are three, viz, 1. I lay the diameter of the Protractor on that line which brought me to the present station, where the angle, about to be laid down, was taken. 2. I lay the beginning of...
